Nashville Man is Held Here On Charge of Counterfeiting

Brought Here
Secretly by Federal Agents

Elmer Hake, 66,
Was First Feared
Kidnapped at Nashville

A Nashville, Ill., man first reported abducted, then revealed held on a charge of counterfeiting, is a prisoner in the Saline county jail.

He was brought here secretly yesterday by federal agents but press associations and metropolitan newspaper correspondents got wind of the fact he was here a few hours after he was brought to Harrisburg.

The man is Elmer Hake, 66, an Illinois highway department employee who has been charged with counterfeiting along with Carl Zerse, 61, also of Nashville, who is in custody there.

Taken Before Joyner

Brought here yesterday by Elliott C. Thacker, special agent in charge of the Springfield office of the U. S. Secret Service, Treasury department, and an officer companion, Hake was taken to the Saline county jail shortly before noon.

Then yesterday afternoon, because U. S. Commissioner W. W. Damron was out of town, the federal agents took Hake before Justice of the Peace Vern Joyner on a local complaint charging counterfeiting preliminary to his formal arraignment before the U. S. Commissioner. Hake's bond was set at $10,000 and he was returned to jail.

Most of the police activity was on the Nashville end of the story, where Thacker went after depositing his prisoner here. There Thacker held a press conference last night and revealed that Hake was being held in Harrisburg.

Broadcast Alarm

For almost 24 hours it was feared that Hake had been kidnapped by a gang of men in a big black limousine.

It turned out that the "kidnappers" were Secret Service agents who seized Hake Wednesday afternoon at a highway intersection near Okawville. He was on his way home from work at French Village in St. Clair county.

Walter Streuter, 18, saw the arrest and reported it to state police, who broadcast an alarm that Hake had been forced to drive away with the men.

Thacker said at Nashville that Hake and Zerse had been operating together for about one and one-half years. He said Zerse engraved and printed the bogus bills and Hake supplied the paper and ink.

Secret Service agents planned to confer at Nashville with doctors on what to do with Zerse, who got up from a sick bed to play "Dixieland" music on the piano while the agents questioned him.

Zerse, a 61-year-old musician-printer who admitted turning out $8,000 worth of bogus $10 bills in his home in the past 1½ years, was held in technical custody at his home pending consultation with his doctors, Special Agent Thacker said.

Secret Service agents said further charges would be filed against Hake.

Thacker said Zerse printed "pretty good" imitations of the $10 bills in his home with paper and ink supplied by Hake. Hake denied to agents he knew the money was counterfeit.

Thacker said Hake distributed the bills through Southern Illinois. The pair handled only $10 bills, Thacker said.

Zerse was described as being an eccentric but brilliant pianist with long hair and sallow complexion who came here from St. Louis 20 years ago and opened a print shop. The 5 foot 2 inch former printer, who weighs only about 100 pounds, lives with his wife in what neighbors described as squalor and near destitution.

Thacker said he believed Hake took the larger share of the returns on the counterfeit bills.

Killer Earthquake Shakes Philippines

MANILA, P. I. (UPI) — A killer earthquake shook a wide area of the Philippines today and 56 known casualties were reported, including 12 dead and 44 injured.

Most of the casualties were inflicted when the quake toppled a cathedral tower on a large gathering in the bay town of Sorsogon.

Early estimates of property damage were as high as two million pesos (one million dollars).

Hardest hit areas were the towns of Daet, Sorsogon and Legaspi in southeastern Luzon.

STEAMING HOT ASPHALT will be coming from this big plant erected on Barnett street at Route 45 in the next couple of weeks. The equipment has been set up by the F. C. Feutz Co. of Paris, Ill., one of the best known bituminous surfacing manufacturers in the state. Here fine and coarse sand, and fine and coarse stone, will be mixed with hot asphalt which will result in the resurfacing material for the Route 45 project between Harrisburg and Carrier Mills. The hot material will be trucked to the place it is needed. Right now the road is being widened and rebuilt in places preparatory to the surfacing job. Other projects in the area, including the Granger and Sloan street resurfacing jobs in Harrisburg, may get their material from this plant while it is here to supply what is needed by the Triangle Construction Co., which has the widening and resurfacing contract for Route 45. Southeastern Illinois Gas Co. will furnish gas to heat the asphalt for the Feutz plant. It has laid permanent gas pipe from Sloan to Robinson in an alley between Granger and Webster and from Robinson will take gas to the plant through an emergency three-inch pipe from Robinson street. ## Independence Day Week End to Begin Tonight; Expect Record Traffic Jam

By United Press

Americans knocked off work for their annual Fourth of July celebration today and safety experts feared 430 of them would be dead on the highways before the holiday is over.

The Independence Day weekend, traditionally the biggest July of the summer, starts at 6 p. m. local time tonight and ends at midnight Monday.

The National Safety Council expected the biggest July 4 traffic in history to clog streets and highways with 40 million cars. They estimated the three-day traffic toll at 430 lives, but hoped it would be lower.

Rio Grande Flood
Ends; Storms
Rake Midwest

By United Press

The mighty Rio Grande ended the worst flood in its history today and savage storms raked the nation's midsection.

The record-breaking flood waters had been stopped by the giant Falcon Dam south of Laredo. But officials still sought to determine the flood's exact cost in death and destruction.

Piedras Negras, Mexico, lost an estimated 80 per cent of its homes, mostly crude mud huts which collapsed in the flood. The official death toll was 38, with predictions that it may rise higher.

The death count in Texas was 18, with all of the deaths occurring on tributaries of the Rio Grande.

Winds up to 80 miles an hour ripped through Fort Worth, Tex., smashing 35 to 40 airplanes and causing an estimated one million dollars damage.

Hangars were ripped down and one observer said he saw "one airplane flying backward inside one of the hangars."

An electrical storm at Omaha, Neb., snapped down live wires in almost every section of the city. A rain gauge recorded 1.23 inches of precipitation.

Valparaiso, Ind., reported hail and 2.75 inches of rain and Weston, Ind., had 2.5 inches.

Meanwhile, weeks of hot weather began to raise a water problem in parts of the Midwest.

Illinois Gov. William G. Stratton ordered a state police escort for an 11-truck convoy carrying pipe across the state to relieve the water supply emergency at Mount Sterling. The city has less than a 30-day supply of water due to a two-year drought.

Five Armed Men
Rob Chicago Bank

By United Press

CHICAGO (UPI) — Five fast-working robbers, armed with a machinegun and pistols, took $47,000 from the Ashland State Bank and escaped today.

They missed a bigger haul from a money delivery truck by only five minutes.

It was the city's first bank robbery in more than five years. On June 25, 1949, the South Chicago Savings Bank was held up and two Brink's express company guards were killed.

Senate Refuses Tax Break For Farmers

Leaders Press For Final Passage Of Measure

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate refused today to vote a bigger tax break for farmers to make it easier for them to buy new tractors and farm machinery.

The action came on an amendment by Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.) to the administration's big tax reform bill.

Thwarted in efforts to get a final vote on the measure late Thursday night, Senate leaders were pressing for passage of the bill today.

Douglas proposed to let farmers write off the cost of new machinery as a current expense — up to 25 per cent of their gross income for a year. He was defeated by a vote of 65-15.

Help Small Farmers

He told the Senate the proposal would give great help to small farmers who needed to mechanize their farms or to replace old machinery. He said it also would relieve economic trouble in the farm equipment industry.

Sen. Eugene D. Millikin (R-Colo.) objected to the amendment and said it would cost the treasury about $40 million dollars a year. Douglas proposed the cost would exceed $100 million dollars.

Millikin said a provision already in the bill would give farmers the same privilege as business firms to write off costs of equipment for tax purposes faster than the present law allows.

Millikin Thursday night accepted an amendment by Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) to permit farmers to charge off the cost of new grain storage as current expense, up to 25 per cent of their gross income.

Exempt Rodeos

The Senate adopted an amendment to exempt rodeos and historical pageants from the 10 per cent admissions tax. It was offered by Sen. Francis Case (R-S.D.).

Senate leaders tried and failed to get the bill to a final vote during a marathon 13-hour session Thursday. They abandoned hope at 11:30 p. m. but continued working on amendments.

Then shortly before midnight, the Senate was notified that Sen. Hugh Butler (R-Neb.) had died. It adjourned immediately.

During the session, the Senate acted on more than two score amendments.

Only Remnant Left

Only a remnant of this provision survived after Thursday's Senate votes. As amended, the provision would exclude only the first $50 of a taxpayer's dividend income from tax relief on income from stock dividends.

Four Counties Fail to Comply With Rabies Act

British Expect Red China To Be Admitted to UN, Congress Source Reports

WASHINGTON (UPI) — British officials declared during last week's Eisenhower-Churchill talks that they expect Red China to be admitted to the United Nations this fall, a congressional leader said today.

He said that is the reason Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland (Calif.) and Sen. Pat McCarran (D-Nev.) suddenly lashed out against the idea Thursday.

The congressional source, who declined to be identified, reported that the British, headed by Prime Minister Winston Churchill and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, produced a summary to show Red China probably will have the votes to win admission when the show-down comes.

French Support Halted

He said France was represented as ready to support — or at least not to oppose — the move as part of an Indochina truce settlement with the Communists.

According to the source, reports of the British views reached Knowland and McCarran. Both reacted sharply.

In a blistering Senate speech, Knowland threatened to resign his leadership post if Red China is seated so as to fight for U.S. withdrawal from the U.N.

McCarran introduced a resolution which would direct the president to pull out of the U.N. and all its activities if Red China is seated.

British sources here confirmed their government believes there will be an all-out effort to seat Red China in place of Nationalist China this fall and that it probably will succeed. And if Red aggression in Indochina has ended by then, they said Britain will find it difficult not to vote for the move.

There are a host of procedural hurdles involved but U.S. sources said they still think this country can beat an admission attempt with the help of the Latin American bloc and other staunch U.S. supporters.

Four Counties Fail to Comply With Rabies Act

Saline, Gallatin Among Group; Law Effective June 1

SPRINGFIELD (UPI) — Only four counties, all in southern Illinois, have failed to comply with the Rabies Control Act which became law June 1, it was reported today.

Dr. Arthur K. Merriman, state superintendent of livestock industry, said all but Gallatin, Jefferson, Saline and Washington counties have notified his office they have taken steps to comply with the law.

The act, passed by the 1952 Legislature, requires each county to name a licensed veterinarian as a rabies inspector, and to set up programs for vaccinating all dogs against rabies.

Merriman said Gallatin, Saline and Washington counties had written him about preliminary steps taken toward coming under the law but hadn't completed action yet.

Their problem centered around locating licensed veterinarians who would accept the rabies inspector appointments, he said.

98 Counties Comply

Dr. L. R. Davenport, chief of veterinary public health in the Illinois Public Health Department, said the fact that 98 counties have complied with the law is "gratifying."

The House approved a much more liberal relief provision from the stockholders' viewpoint. Differences in the House provision and the Senate plan will be worked out by a conference committee which must write the final draft of the bill.

The Senate also had another vote on a proposal for a general reduction in personal income taxes.

Sponsored by Sen. Russell B. Long (D-La.), this proposal was modeled after an amendment originally sponsored by Senate Republican leaders when they feared a Democratic-backed personal income tax reduction might be adopted.

The Long amendment would have given a tax cut of $20 a year to all individual taxpayers and of $40 to married couples filing joint returns. It was defeated by a vote of 50 to 33 with only two Republicans voting for it.

The President blushed. "Well," he said, "we can still grin after 38 years."

Hayes predicted 13 of the deaths, 455 injuries and $715,000 in damages will occur in Cook County. Six deaths and 210 injuries probably will be in Chicago, he said.

Early forecasts gave some hope of slightly cooler weather on Sunday, but otherwise the current pattern of heat and scattered thunderstorms appeared likely to continue.

Showers were forecast for late today, tonight and Saturday. It's expected to clear up Sunday and may drop into the 80s.

Mr. and Mrs. Eisenhower had about 30 members of the White House staff in for an anniversary party Thursday afternoon.

They missed a bigger haul from a money delivery truck by only five minutes.

It was the city's first bank robbery in more than five years. On June 25, 1949, the South Chicago Savings Bank was held up and two Brink's express company guards were killed.

They will be tried for the killing.

The trial is set for Aug. 10.

GREAT TURNPIKE ERA

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT

When Governor Dewey snipped the ribbon that opened the first 115 miles of the New York State Thruway, the turnpike era may be said to have come of age.

By the end of 1954, close to 400 miles of this 427-mile route will be in service, the longest highway on the turnpike-toll road pattern yet built in America. It means motorists rolling across eastern states will thereafter have a choice of two magnificent systems, this and the roughly paralleling Pennsylvania Turnpike, pioneer cross-country expressway.

The achievement compares with the laying of the great rail web that now spans the nation. With the passing of this milestone, we are well on the way to the building of the first truly modern highway network this motor age has seen.

Today's automobile, high-powered, broad, sleek-lined and superfast, was not meant to be hobbled by stop-lights, local business traffic, narrow city and town streets, and the innumerable roadside distractions which muddy the stream of transcontinental travelers.

The original 160-mile section of the Pennsylvania pike, opened in 1940, was the experiment that touched off the new era. Its smashing success as a toll road showed drivers were willing to pay to get roads to match the capacity of their cars.

Three years ago, Pennsylvania finished extending its pioneer route 327 miles across the state, and New Jersey had come in with its 118-mile pike slicing southward from New York City to a point near Wilmington, Del. The fever was on.

By 1956 a motorist will be able to travel continuous turnpike routes from New York to Chicago through Pennsylvania or across New York, to go from Boston to Chicago, most of the way from Augusta, Me., to Chicago, and from Maine south to Washington.

Excited turnpike planners are laying out or starting to build a Chicago-Florida route, another midwest-to-Florida system seems in the making, and there appears sure to be a Detroit-Chicago route, another from Chicago to Minneapolis, possibly others from Chicago to St. Louis and Chicago to the Iowa line.

Oklahoma, Kansas and Texas are under way with definite plans that can link into systems originating in Chicago, Iowa and Nebraska may draw the network at least as far west as Omaha.

Southern states are coming into the picture, and northern areas are adding spurs and connecting links to fatten out the turnpike system.

Most of this construction will materialize by 1960, and the key elements in the east-west pattern are assured two years from now.

The speed of this work, the great extent of it (from the eastern seaboard south to Florida and west to the plains states), and the quality of the engineering all combine to make a fine tribute to American energy and ingenuity.

Many parts of the U. S. highway system are sadly deficient. But at least we can be thankful that, now the formula has been found, the basic lines of the critically useful turnpike system are being laid with full awareness of the desperate need.

ROTC Commander At SIU Transferred

CARBONDALE, Ill. — Col. Oliver K. Halderson, who this summer will relinquish his command of the Air Force ROTC unit at Southern Illinois University after three years, has been assigned to Foster Air Force Base, Tex.

Halderson will report Oct. 1 to become an air commander in the 450th fighter-bomber wing. His original two-year assignment to SIU was extended an extra year at the request of University administrators.

His replacement, Col. Alexander R. MacMillan, former inspector general for the Air Training Command at Scott Air Force Base, is expected here next month.

Sunday, 3 p.m.

Shells, Lions, Walker's, Triple A Win Kiwanis Tilts

Yesterday's games in the Kiwanis league saw the Mitchell Shells defeat the Excel Market nine, 5-1; the Lions beat Pankey's Bakery, 13-3; Walker's Cleaners won from the Deuces, 9-0; and the Triple A insurance team won from Turner's in a 20-16 slugfest.

Powell, the winning hurler for the Shells, allowed only four hits, while Speaks, the loser allowed seven. Cummins was the leading hitter with two for three.

Henshaw was the winning pitcher for the Lions while Dunning was the loser.

Both teams in the Triple A-Turner's Cafe game used pitchers freely with Heggin of the Triple A being chalked up with the victory. Each team hit freely but errors in the outfield cost Turner's the game. The lead changed hands several times and the contest was in doubt until the last of the seventh when Turner's went down one-two-three.

Air Force Takes Over Recruiting Of Personnel

Today, the United States Air Force took over operational control of its own recruiting service. The Air Force organization given the responsibility of handling this king-sized task has been designated the 3500th USAF recruiting Wing. Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Dayton, Ohio, Brigadier General Arne H. Luchman, former Air Force Public Information Deputy, has been named commander.

Since 1947, when the Air Force and the Army became two separate organizations, Army and Air Force recruiting was accomplished by a joint effort. However, due to the tremendous defense build up, in particular the Air Force, plus prevailing world conditions, the Secretary of Defense recently signed a bill giving the Air Force and the Army separate control of their respective recruiting machinery. This move was made in an effort to give each line of defense more efficient and economical control of their individual recruiting needs, resulting in more protection per defense dollar.

Due to the tremendous emphasis put on air power, manning the nation's first line of defense is no minor matter. In fact, the United States Air Force is now America's largest business. Thousands of young men will be needed in the coming year to meet Air Force personnel requirements.

Dayton, Ohio, was selected to host this new organization because of its geographical location and communication facilities.

An all-out effort is being made by Air Force recruiters all over America to acquaint the general public with their Air Force, its mission and career opportunities.

The local recruiting office is located on the 3rd floor of the court house.

Sen. Kefauver Seeks to Block AEC Power Move

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) has prepared legislation to bar the Atomic Energy Commission from buying electric power for resale.

Kefauver's resolution was aimed at blocking an administration move for the AEC to buy power from a private plant to supply power to the Memphis, Tenn., area in exchange for current which an AEC plant at Paducah, Ky., would receive from the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Kefauver's measure would provide that the authority of AEC to enter into contracts for electric power extends only to contracts with persons who agree to supply service directly to AEC plants.

Kefauver said the proposed contract "is bad business, it is bad government and it is bad morals."

Kefauver recalled that the Budget Bureau on June 16 directed AEC to contract with a private utility, Dixon-Yates Co., for the 600,000-kilowatt output of a power plant the syndicate would build in eastern Arkansas.

The current would be fed into lines of the TVA near Memphis. In exchange, TVA would supply 600,000 kilowatts to the Paducah AEC plant. Other Democrats have protested the move, reportedly instigated by President Eisenhower.

STREET ROD

Copyright 1953 by Henry Gregor Felsen. Printed by arrangement with the publisher, Random House, Inc. Distributed by FLSA Service.

THE STORY: Because teenagers will have hot rods and reckless driving causes wrecks, Ricky Madison's father has taken the lead in organizing hot rod drivers to promote safety. A "drag strip" where the home-built cars can be tested is necessary and the proposal is presented to the city council:

XVII

Ricky stood up. "We've got this timing association we just formed, and we need a place to run our drag races. The idea is, if we let them have a place for the races, we'd pledge not to race or break any laws on the highway. And our members have to have their cars inspected for safety, and abide by."

"Just a minute, young fellow," George Reynow interrupted. "What you were saying, you want the city to turn one of its roads over to you for a race track. If we don't, you'll race on all the highways. Sort of blackmail proposition, I say."

"And it's about time you young fellows got it through your heads to obey the laws," the mayor added. "You don't come up here and tell us which laws you'll obey and which you won't; I guess not."

"You're not being fair!" Ricky's father shouted, his sharp face taut and angry. "I explained this proposition to all of you, and you all seemed to agree with it."

"You're prejudiced because you've got a boy here speaking his piece," Gus Vorkle said. "The more I think this over, the more I'm against it. The idea of the city providing a race track! What we want to do is get rid of this hot rod driving, not encourage it. If we give 'em a track, it will look like we're telling them to build hot rods. We'll have every crazy souped-up jalopy in the state coming down here to race. I don't see it."

"But you don't understand!" Ricky cried. "If it's supervised . . . If we have a place, we won't want to use the highways . . . It's for safety . . ."

"Boy, you're the one who doesn't understand," the Mayor said. "It's about time you and all the others like you understand that we're sick and tired of these hot rods. If something isn't done we'll see that the legislature raises the driving age. Then where'll you be?"

George Reynow paused his mouth into a prim, tight circle. "Seems to me the young people of this town don't appreciate anything whole-some. Delville opened a recreation center where these young folks could get off the streets, but they never went near it. My wife used to supervise there. Said the only thing these boys wanted to do was annoy the girls. Now they're asking us to provide them with a race track. I think a curfew would do them more good."

Ricky's father was about to renew his argument for the boys when he noticed Ricky moving toward the council table, a stubborn, fighting look on his flushed face. Madison waited to hear what his son had to say, proud of the way Ricky was fighting for his idea.

"Mr. Mayor," Ricky said, "I don't think I made myself very clear. Maybe it's my fault. We're not asking for a race track, and we're not trying to blackmail the city either. We're trying to help solve a problem."

He supposed they were listening. They didn't interrupt.

"We also know that teen-ager drivers have a lot of accidents," Ricky continued. "That's why we formed the Delville Timing Association. It's to promote safe driving in safe cars. And it's also to give us a chance to experiment with cars and engines and learn something. That's why we want what we call a drag strip. To give us a chance to work on our cars, and have competitions, and make it worth while for everybody to drive safely. A drag race is an acceleration race. It tests cars. They've done it in other places with good results, and we'd like to do it here. Otherwise we know there'll be drags in the streets and on the highways."

Gus Vorkle shook his head. "That's just a new way of saying what you said before. You want the city to give you a race track and encourage hot rod driving."

"The recreation center was fine for the little kids," Ricky said. "But we're too big to sit around and play checkers."

Mayor Travis banged his gavel on the table. "It won't do any good to sass the council, son."

"I'm not sassin'," Ricky said. "I'm trying to explain." He looked around helplessly and saw Arnie. "Arnie," Ricky said, "What do you think about our idea?"

Arnie had been all for the idea,

but now that the council had turned against it, he had to be careful. A couple of them thought he was too old and fat and lazy to be a policeman anyway.

"Who knows?" Arnie said. "Could be a good idea. Worth a try, maybe."

"You told me the other day it would make your job easier."

Charles Trumm snorted. "Part of our trouble in this town is a policeman who's looking for ways to make his job easy."

Arnie regarded Trumm mildly with his blue eyes. "You try taking that tired prowler car and running down a full-race Merc," Arnie said.

The Mayor tapped with his gavel. "You have heard the proposition. All in favor of the race track say ay."

"Aye!" Ricky's father spat the word out angrily.

"Opposed signify by the usual sign."

The other councilmen grunted their negative vote.

"Nays have it. Motion is defeated. If there is no further business before the council, we stand adjourned." The gavel tapped. The meeting was over.

Somerset

Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Williams and family had as Sunday dinner guests Mr. and Mrs. Albert Williams and Mr. and Mrs. Gene Williams and daughters, Rocky Branch, and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Walker and daughter, Wanda, of Evansville.

Visitors the past week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Conkle have been Mr. and Mrs. Lorale Hall, Rev. and Mrs. Ellis Pankkey and Tilda Farrell, all of Harrisburg, and Mandy Lane of Mississ.

"But you don't understand!" Ricky cried. "If it's supervised . . . If we have a place, we won't want to use the highways . . . It's for safety . . ."

"Boy, you're the one who doesn't understand," the Mayor said. "It's about time you and all the others like you understand that we're sick and tired of these hot rods. If something isn't done we'll see that the legislature raises the driving age. Then where'll you be?"

George Reynow paused his mouth into a prim, tight circle. "Seems to me the young people of this town don't appreciate anything whole-some. Delville opened a recreation center where these young folks could get off the streets, but they never went near it. My wife used to supervise there. Said the only thing these boys wanted to do was annoy the girls. Now they're asking us to provide them with a race track. I think a curfew would do them more good."

Ricky's father was about to renew his argument for the boys when he noticed Ricky moving toward the council table, a stubborn, fighting look on his flushed face. Madison waited to hear what his son had to say, proud of the way Ricky was fighting for his idea.

"Mr. Mayor," Ricky said, "I don't think I made myself very clear. Maybe it's my fault. We're not asking for a race track, and we're not trying to blackmail the city either. We're trying to help solve a problem."

He supposed they were listening. They didn't interrupt.

"We also know that teen-ager drivers have a lot of accidents," Ricky continued. "That's why we formed the Delville Timing Association. It's to promote safe driving in safe cars. And it's also to give us a chance to experiment with cars and engines and learn something. That's why we want what we call a drag strip. To give us a chance to work on our cars, and have competitions, and make it worth while for everybody to drive safely. A drag race is an acceleration race. It tests cars. They've done it in other places with good results, and we'd like to do it here. Otherwise we know there'll be drags in the streets and on the highways."

Gus Vorkle shook his head. "That's just a new way of saying what you said before. You want the city to give you a race track and encourage hot rod driving."

"The recreation center was fine for the little kids," Ricky said. "But we're too big to sit around and play checkers."

Mayor Travis banged his gavel on the table. "It won't do any good to sass the council, son."

"I'm not sassin'," Ricky said. "I'm trying to explain." He looked around helplessly and saw Arnie. "Arnie," Ricky said, "What do you think about our idea?"

Arnie had been all for the idea,
